It's a straight up lie....

I can't understand why MATH dissed Copenhagen in your interview (Math interview issue 12), no Rens? no Bates? 2 Moa pannels, little Tower and Carn bombin'? You must be crazy to believe that! How can he go to the Central Station and a Hall of Fame and speak up on the behalf of Copenhagen when it's a straight up lie.... (are you sure he went to Copenhagen?)

To tell you the real thruth (it's out here...) it's like this. First of all MOAS killed shit like monsters, more then 2000 trains done (out of 600 available) it's a fact.

Rens is intercity king of throw-ups, around 200 filled-in, and massive bombing on each line, we're talking about the sickest spots..thruth!

Bates, I don't know, I'am not the king or anything but I rocked since 1986, no breaks, still in it... believe it but I'am pretty sure you run into a piece or two...

Tower and Carn, kings of the highway, throw-ups everywhere, on their 2nd year non stop around 1000 or more, if that ain't bombing then I don't know! Also you gotta know, me and Rens were cool with Math, we chilled out and showed him around.

Johan, you got shit from Mins, Rens, bulletproof evidence such as flicks, I know you got it so then it's up to you, think for yourselfs, is it true or not?

You got some kind of responsebility for your magazine and what you write or put in. A lot of toys or readers will believe that shit; I kill all rumours! I represent Copenhagen, Denmark, so do my homies!

Bates

Must have media

At my office I received a package containing 2 new titles produced by MASmedia, a multimedia company based in Dortmund and ran by MASON.

King of the line

This is a double CD-rom set which contains fresh and often unpublished stuff mostly from Dortmund writers. The cd runs on a pc under windows and an interactive menu makes it possible to navigate between layers by clicking items. For example there's a view on a station, if you move the cursor it starts to blink on the entrance but also on a timetable so you can choose the direction you want! Some clickable items start samples, breakbeats and even movies (CAN2 painting a character, trains running etc).

Rolling Thunder 001

40 minutes of Dortmund trainaction, this means; phat covering paint, often simple styles and characters but boy it works! The images come along with heavy hip hop beats, Jeru, Cypress, The Wu what creates an almost threatning atmosphere. Names? WUT, RIO, DNK, SAK, MAS, VOLA, SOB, DAR, PEST, ATOM, POEM, BASS. You must buy this video if you're into trains, wholecars and wholetrains, I was totally impressed by a "3-car full color smashing pieces wholetrain" running but I needed my medicins urgently after I saw the "silver 8-car wholetrain" running;

BUY IT!!!!!!

A whole lotta train

Something unique in the history of Dutch trainwriting took place; in oktober a wholetrain has been painted. The train was an intercity and counted 4 cars. Performing writers were the MSNcrew, they painted 4 silver one-man wholecars. One of us, the Bombteam, ran into one of them, the MSN, who accidentaly had the photos with him; it's quit impressive and worth to be published but due to the bad quality of the photos and a couple, sort of "keep 'em exclusive" excuses, they're not in this issue....

Warsaw

Can you give a brief history?
Graffiti started in Warsaw around 1993. There were writers before that, like CICHY183 and DOSER (who lived outside of Poland for some time) but there was not a real scene. In 1993 SIR, ASH and KEN,who used to write in Berlin, started writing in Warsaw. In 1994 CRISIS moved back here from Prauge and started bombing Warsaw. I don't think graffiti has much to do with hip-hop, although hip-hop tries to call graffiti it's own.

Is there a big scene in Warsaw?
The train scene in Warsaw is "small", no more than 10-15 people do the trains with any regularity. The divisions are strange; there's the "poser-writer", who's always down to throw his shit up whenever his friends want too, there's the "legal-writer" who does lots of legal walls and tags just in his neighborhood and then there's "the elite" DOT and WC crews that kill everything in Warsaw like tracksides, trains, city walls everything!, EXCEPT for legal walls. The mixture of people who write is widespread but most of them are pretty young (15-21) and come from all different kinds of homes, although not many writers work (most go to school).

How many trainlines are there?
Three Commuter (regional) train lines, plus one subway line. Commuter trains run 150-300km in each direction out of Warsaw (north, south, east, west) and those are "killed". Intercities aren't done, because they're better guarded than the Commuters (at least in Warsaw, not so in other Polish cities)

How are the paint supplies?
Belton, Multona, Auto-K, Sparvar and 300 kinds of shit paint. it's hard to get different colors, the paint's not that expensive (8zl/can) and we don't rack cause there's only "one" place in Warsaw to get cans and if you get caught there, you can't buy anymore cans!)

What do you think of all the tourists visiting Warsaw and painting the trains?
Fuck tourists. naw, but tourists don't come here that often. a lot of the yards got "fucked up" this summer, and it made it a lot harder for the Warsaw-bombers, but we got used to the new reality and we're doing shit again. I don't like tourists that just come here and do trains. But guys who come here, call us up, hang out with us, that's cool. most of the tourists are from Berlin, but we've had people from Spain, France, Sweden, Great-Britain and the Czech republic. The "first" tourists to do color panels in Warsaw was RCB, MIB and SR. then came FUF and TT (the first tourists we had contact with), after that it was CAF and a whole bunch of people.

How's the policy of the government towards graffiti?
What policy? the government doesn't really give a fuck, because (a) we mostly do pieces,no bullshit throwups, (b) they just don't give a fuck. The trains are a lot harder to paint than before, no doubt. We get chased about 30% of the time now! The rail company is pissed, because of the wholecars. When we were just doing panels, they couldn't give a fuck because it didn't cost them shit. there's no buff so they don't have to spend money buffing. but with wholecars they have to buff the windows. There's no vandal squad, but a few writers were caught this year.
